DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 13 recites the limitation "said step of removing finger" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 5 recites the limitation "said fingers" in line 3. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 9, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bech et al (6,773,259). Bech et al discloses a cement producing system and includes a rotary kiln (10), a riser duct (71) having an upper portion and a lower portion, wherein the lower portion connects to the kiln and passes process materials therethrough, a down draft calciner (C) having a lower portion connected to the lower portion of the riser duct (SEE Figure 1), a tertiary duct (72) connected to the upper portion of the calciner, a suspension burner (68) disposed in the calciner in a manner to permit receipt of waste and suspension of waste in the calciner, the waste passes to the rotary kiln by gravity. An auger means (50, 54, 56) automatically feeds combustible waste derived fuel; preheaters exist in the form of cascading cycles (16, 20) and shutting down based on combustion conditions is inherently taught in column 8, lines 49 – column 9, line 13.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bech et al (6,773,259) in view of Evans (5,989,017). Bech et al teaches the applicants primary inventive concept as stated above but does not particularly recite that tires are the waste derived fuel. Evans discloses a cement manufacturing system in which the waste derived fuel is tires (76) It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the teachings (substitute) of Bech et al to provide tires as the waste derived fuel, since the applicant has not disclosed that tires solves any stated problem in a new or unexpected way or is for any particular purpose which is unobvious to one of ordinary skill. It appears that the claimed feature does not distinguish the invention over similar features in the prior art since, the waste derived fuel of Bech et al will perform the invention as claimed by the applicant with any solid waste derived fuel.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3, 4, 8 and 12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
